Short Description

band-it banding buckle, 13mm

Description

Stainless steel buckles for securing the Bandfix system provide an effective fastening method with moderate corrosion resistance when used in conjunction with sign banding and banding equipment. These buckles, also known as ear-lokt buckles, can be used to secure various common brands of stainless steel banding. For general fastening, it's used in a range of sectors. These are great for sign mounting; the strapping is frequently used with a sign to tie it to a post with a buckle or clip.
